

MRS. HEARST WILL LEND HER SUPPORT

Not to Withdraw From the Kindergarten Work.

MONEY FOR ANOTHER YEAR

Friends of Institution Confident It Will Overcome All Difficulties in That Time.

The Phoebe A. Hearst Training School and Kindergarten in Washington will be continued with Mrs. Hearst's support for another year. Mrs. Hearst has reconsidered her recent announcement of withdrawing her support to the extent that salaries will be paid to the teachers for another term and money provided for the scholarships not completed.

Mrs. Hearst has also notified the principal of the college, Miss Niel, that she will give the two houses, 1213 and 1215 K Street, for another year.

A Friend in Need.

Mrs. Hearst's action in coming to the rescue of the cause of kindergarten instruction is regarded by those intimately associated with the work as a nucleus upon which its future may be permanently established. A contribution of $1,000 has been received, and this, with another year from its founder, will do much to tide over the difficulty.

The college, and the kindergarten school affiliated with it, will be the only ones to be continued in Washington, as the two branch schools will be closed indefinitely. This, it is said, was to have been done in any case, as Mrs. Hearst was beginning to withdraw her support from the field. The college, however, the main interest of those associated in the work and if that can be maintained the schools themselves could be conveniently abandoned inasmuch as a number have been established in Washington, including classes in the public schools. But it is in the training of teachers that the great loss would be sustained should the college be allowed to go out of existence.

Miss Niel, the principal, is regarded as one of the best kindergarten trainers in the country, and her administration of her duties as head of the Hearst college has met with approval from many of the heads of similar institutions in the larger cities.

Well-Known Principals Here.

She is constantly on the alert for new ideas and broadening of kindergarten methods and established a policy of bringing to Washington the noted principals from the noted schools in Chicago, Boston and other cities to give a course of lectures for the benefit of the teachers' classes here. In this way Washington instructors have been able to keep abreast of the times and to employ the latest methods in instruction.

Should the project of continuing the school fail it will undoubtedly mean more to the public schools of Washington and the future of its pupils than most people are aware.

Has Many Graduates.

More than eighty teachers have graduated from the Hearst School, and the Board of Education, after experimenting with teachers schooled in other colleges, came to realize the superior attainments of the Hearst graduates, as it is said they undergo a more thorough

Virginia Anthracite Relieves Coal Market

Country Awakening to New Source of Hard
Coal—Pennsylvania May No Longer Fix
Rates as She Pleases.

The recent shipment of Virginia anthracite coal to Chicago has attracted attention to the field of anthracite in southwest Virginia, where extensive developments are now under way and which is described in this week's issue of the "Manufacturers' Record." Some of these deposits were worked on a small scale prior to the civil war, and all of the indications point to the fact that the paying coal of these deposits lies in Montgomery and Pulaski counties. The article says:

"The total estimated acreage of the Montgomery field is about 7,000 acres. This includes the coal between the coal outcrop and the limestone outcrop. Indications are that the coal is minable within a few hundred feet of this limestone fault. Hence the entire region between the coal outcrop and the limestone fault is included. This estimate also throws out considerable property where the strata are so faulty and broken as to make mining impracticable.

course than is given in many of the colleges in the country, with the result that the majority of these are now employed in teaching the public school classes.

Every year sees nearly all the graduates back at the college for post-graduate courses, and the schools of Washington are thus able to keep up with other cities.

It is that this can be continued that an appeal to the public is to be made through circulars which will go out from the college today. If the public can be sufficiently interested and made to understand the high value of the aims of the college it is believed the institution will be given means of maintenance at least for the more thorough training of young minds.

RECORD-BREAKING SUNDAY AT BATHING BEACH

Yesterday was a record-breaker in the attendance at the Bathing Beach, 1,000 having taken to the water there during yesterday morning and afternoon. The largest attendance hitherto has been 1,200.

The rains last night raised the two basins by four inches, but no damage was done to the fixtures at the beach.

B. & O. LAYS OFF 1,000 MEN.

PITTSBURG, June 6.—Owing to the falling off in freight traffic the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad since June 1 has discharged about 1,000 men. The fact that there is no coal being hauled to the lakes and that furnaces are being closed down for lack of orders has almost caused a cessation in coal, iron, ore, and coke traffic.

Summer Tourist Rates via B. & O. R. R.

BOYS DROWN BABY IN WATER BARREL

Confess Cruel Deed to Village Mayor.

UNCONSCIOUS OF ANY WRONG

Remarkable Case of Juvenile Depravity
Is Reported From Sery, France.

PARIS, June 6.—A remarkable case of juvenile depravity is reported from Sery, in the department of Alsace.

M. Germain and his wife went out on Wednesday, leaving their one-year-old son in the charge of the eldest girl, named Adrienne, aged twelve. Seeing the baby was asleep, she went into the village for some milk, and in order not to wake the child got out of the window, leaving it open.

She had scarcely disappeared when two little boys, Maurice Hein and Jean Bideaux, each aged six, who were playing close by, entered the house by the open window. Finding the baby asleep, they put it into an empty potato sack, which they proceeded to stuff with grass, and then carried it between them to the water butt outside the house. They threw the sack into the butt, and then scampered away.

When the sister returned she was astonished at finding that the baby had vanished. After several hours' search she found it drowned in the water butt. As the boys had been seen near the house, the mayor of the village sent for them, in the presence of the horrified parents, they related what they did, though they were apparently unaware that they had done anything very wrong.

SUNDAY TRAINS TO ASBURY.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 6.—The first regular Sunday train ever stopped in Asbury Park drew into the North Asbury Park depot yesterday. Less than a dozen persons assembled, and cheerfully. All trains scheduled to stop at Interlaken stopped at North Asbury.
